May 2011

Greetings from Keynote! Liesl and I love these emails that Keynote sends out each month (we get some of our stories from them). We thought we'd send this one to all of you and suggest that you subscribe – just go to www.keynote.org and fill in your email address at the top right corner of the page.

Keynote.org has a new look!

The Keynote Marketing and Media Team has been hard at work over the last several months redesigning our ministry website.

You'll find new features, updated content and easy access to the Keynote blog, the Golf Challenge site, Summer Project, God Tools apps and more.

Check it out and let us know what you think.

Prayer Requests

Please pray for the 34 students who are here for Summer Project. Pray for them especially as they learn to communicate their own stories about God's work in their lives and for the work He wants to do in them this summer.

Please pray for the Indiana Golf Challenge (May 23.) Pray for good weather and for an outpouring of God's provision for Keynote through this event! You can find out more or sponsor a golfer on the event website.

A Land Down Under

You expect to learn a lot in school, but it's not every day you get to hear the gospel.

Rahlo of the blackSoil project (Michael Porter) recently returned from a whirlwind tour in Australia. Rahlo joined hands with Keynote partner Darren Hamilton for outreach concerts in schools. One of the "extras" on this trip was the opportunity to perform with Destination Life, one of the outreach bands with Campus Crusade for Christ, Australia (CRAM.)

In early May, rahlo arrived and began by rehearsing with the band. After that the team dove into a daunting schedule of 15 concerts in nine days.

We received a report late last week just before the tour was ending. Here are a few of the "stats" from the concerts.

- 9 concerts/outreaches
- 981 in attendance
- 117 received Christ
- 46 want to know more

Wouldn't it be great if we had such freedom to share the gospel in schools in America!

Summer Project Begins

The 2011 Keynote Summer Project has begun! On Sunday, May 15 more than 30 students arrived as part of Keynote's project or to serve with Impact this summer.

In addition to the outreach bands we always put together, we will also have a team of students working on a couple of short-films to be used in outreaches.

You can follow what's happening this summer by stopping by the Keynote Summer Project Facebook Page or visiting the Keynote Connection blog.

Thank you for partnering with us in ministry! Next month you'll be hearing about the beginnings of our summer in Colorado.
